Garden and Agriculture-Based Learning Opportunities for Educators

Garden-based Learning Workshops

Life Lab, a national leader in the garden-based learning movement, will host workshops for educators to share tools and inspiration for engaging youth in garden and farm-based learning. Information about upcoming workshops is provided below. For more details, visit the Life Lab website.

September 14, 2023

Next Generation Science in the Garden Workshop

Bring Next Generation Science to life in the garden! Using lessons from Life Lab's updated curriculum, participants in this workshop will learn how to use the garden to explore the integration of science and engineering practices, disciplinary core ideas and crosscutting concepts.

Plant to Plate Workshop

Make the connection from seed to table in this fun and delicious workshop. Using tried-and-true Life Lab lessons and recipes for grades K-8, participants explore effective ways to teach nutrition and encourage kids to eat more fruits and vegetables through hands-on activities with food, including harvesting and meal preparation.

California Agriculture in the Classroom Conference

LearnAboutAg.org, the California Foundation for Agriculture in the Classroom, will host a conference to help educators teach K-12 students about the importance of agriculture as it relates to the economy, environment and population health. The conference will be held September 22-24, 2023, and will feature hands-on activities, farm tours, a farmer panel, exhibits and more. Attendees will explore California's food industry and enrich their current curriculum at the same time. For more information, visit the LearnAboutAg.org website.
