Funding Corner: Robert Wood Johnson Foundation Community Solutions for Healthy Equity Grant

This grant attempts to support communities to identify a problem that negatively affects consumers; envision solutions; and partners with health care systems to implement them. Too often, the priorities of health care systems (hospitals, providers, and insurers) do not line up with the priorities of community-based organizations and the consumers living in the communities to whom the health care systems are providing service. The health care ecosystem is considered to include the full spectrum of organizations and social structures that impact a person's health and health care.

Applications due: October 7, 2020

Amount of award: $300,000 over three years

Nine grants will be awarded nationwide.

Who can apply: Organizations.
